Give a brief description of the highlights of your project including numbers participating:

A fantastic 780 people turned up for Nga Purapura 2019. We were delighted that so many people came along and got stuck in. All the workshops and drop in activities were bustling with whanau getting involved. The event is completely unique to Kaeo and our community contributes to creating it, feeling pride and demonstrating great community spirit. The event remains completely free of charge enabling it to be completely accessible to all. The highlights include seeing our local talents have a platform and being enjoyed by all and truely celebrating our local culture. Over 25 volunteers contributed to the day either by helping with the event logistics or by contributing their skills by providing workshops. Eight local organisations also contributed by providing activities and services. Describe the main findings in your evaluation of the project/event; describe how your project/ event benefited the community:

Nga Purapura 2019 pulled the community together into creating a celebration for children and young people. Centred around a focus on music, arts and nature the event buzzed all day with activities for children and families to get involved with. It is great to see kids involved in creative and nature based activities with so much enthusiasm. Children were given the opportunity to get involved with activities that are often not available in the local area. Adults were getting involved and enjoying quality experiences with their children. The diversity of the programming meant that most ages were catered for but we noted that next year we need to focus more on making sure we are working with Whangaroa's youth to ensure their needs are met successfully. We also need to address the need for more shade / shelter in the future and possibly relocate the staging so that the music stage is a more prominant feature. The local business community reported a busy day with lots of visitors stopping in the area for the whole day. Overall the event was deemed a great success with enthusisam from partners, collaborators and the committee to continue to produce the event and even to grow it.
