Outline

The 2019 local government triennial elections occurred on Saturday 12 October 2019. The elections for Far North District Council, Northland Regional Council and Northland District Health Board were conducted satisfactorily and on time and met all legislative and practical requirements.

This report summaries the electoral process.

Background

Local government elections are required to be conducted every three years, with the 2019 election occurring on Saturday 12 October 2019. The conduct of these elections is prescribed by legislation and regulation to ensure public confidence and electoral integrity are maintained.

The following preliminary actions/decisions were made:

- (i) the FPP (first past the post) electoral system to be used for Far North District Council and Northland Regional Council elections; the STV (single transferable voting) electoral system to be used for the Northland District Health Board elections;
- (ii) postal voting to be used;
- (iii) the alphabetical order of candidate names to be used for Far North District Council, Northland Regional Council and Northland District Health Board elections;
- (iv) a representation arrangements review was undertaken in 2018 by the Northland Regional Council with the same number of elected members being retained, but minor changes made to some to constituency boundaries.

The electoral officer appointed by the Far North District Council is Dale Ofsoske of Election Services.

With the 2019 elections now complete, this report details the various electoral processes undertaken, together with election statistics for the information of Council.

Narrative

Electoral Roll

The electoral roll comprises two parts, the Residential Electoral Roll and the non-resident Ratepayer Electoral Roll.

The Residential Electoral Roll contains parliamentary electors, whose details are maintained and supplied by the Electoral Commission.

Each territorial authority is responsible for compiling its own non-resident Ratepayer Electoral Roll.

To compile the Ratepayer Electoral Roll, two actions are required:

- (i) a nationwide advertising campaign on the criteria of ratepayer elector qualifications and enrolment procedures; and
- (ii) the issuing of Ratepayer Confirmation Forms to all eligible 2016 Ratepayer Electoral Roll electors, and if returned, these along with any new enrolments, form the basis of the 2019 Ratepayer Electoral Roll.

A national advertising campaign was undertaken by SOLGM during May 2019 advising readers in all major daily newspapers of the criteria and qualifications required to be eligible for the Ratepayer Electoral Roll. A 0800 free-phone service was again used as a national helpline for ratepayer roll enquiries.

In April 2019, 212 Ratepayer Roll confirmation forms were issued to eligible 2016 Ratepayer Electoral Roll electors. A total of 162 non-resident ratepayer electors appeared on the 2019 Ratepayer Electoral Roll.

Preliminary and Final Electoral Rolls

The Preliminary and Final Electoral Rolls contained elector details in alphabetical order with a flag denoting voting entitlement (ward, subdivision of community board, regional council constituency and district health board).

The Preliminary Electoral Roll was available for public inspection at all Council offices/libraries between 19 July 2019 and 16 August 2019.

The Final Electoral Roll contained 43,130 electors (resident and ratepayer) and was an increase of 3,750 (or +9.52%) from the 39,380 electors at the 2016 election.

Statistics relating to the Final Electoral Roll are as follows:

Wards/CB	Final Roll
	No. Residents	No. Ratepayers	Total
Bay of Islands-Whangaroa	20,314	75	20,389
Kaikohe-Hokianga	9,048	25	9,073
Te Hiku	13,606	62	13,668
TOTAL	42,968	162	43,130

Nominations

The nomination period was 19 July to noon 16 August 2019 with nomination material available by:

- (i) visiting one of three Council offices;
- (ii) downloading the material from the Council's website;
- (iii) phoning the electoral office.

A detailed '2019 Candidate Information Handbook' was prepared and made available to all candidates, any interested party (eg media) and available online. The handbook contained relevant information about the electoral process to potential candidates.

A total of 90 nominations were received for the 29 Council vacancies, these detailed as follows:

Issue	No. Nominations	No. Vacancies
Mayor	11	1
Councillors	42	9
Community Board Members	37	19
Total	90	29

For the Kawakawa-Moerewa Subdivision, the Paihia Subdivision and the Russell-Opua Subdivision of the Bay of Islands-Whangaroa Community Board; the Kaikohe Subdivision of the Kaikohe-Hokianga Community Board; and the Doubtless Bay Subdivision and the North Cape Subdivision of the Te Hiku Community Board, the number of nominations received equalled the number of vacancies, and these candidates were duly declared elected following the close of nominations.

The 90 nominations received for mayor, council, and community board vacancies is up significantly from the 51 nominations received for these positions at the 2016 election and the 77 nominations received at the 2013 election.

For candidate names, refer Notice of Day of Election – Appendix 2.

Voting Mailers

Voting mailers consisting of an outward envelope, return prepaid envelope, voting document and a candidate profile booklet (which included instructions in English and Māori) were posted to electors from Friday 20 September 2019.

The voting mailers were produced by the NZ Post Group and were consistent in design layout to all other local authorities in the country.

Special Voting

Special votes were available from 20 September 2019 to noon 12 October 2019 by:

- (i) visiting one of the three Council offices;
- (ii) phoning the electoral office.

591 special votes were returned prior to the close of voting, of which 428 (72.42%) were valid. This compares to 124 special votes returned in 2016, of which 98 (79%) were valid.

Elector Turnout

Of the 43,130 electors on the Final Electoral Roll, 20,479 electors returned their voting document. This represents a 47.48% return and compares to a 41.73% return in 2016.

A schedule of the number of daily returned voting documents over the voting period is attached (Appendix 1).

Of note, the 2019 average nationwide elector turnout is 41.7% compared to 42% for the 2016 election, 41.3% for the 2013 election and 49% for the 2010 election.

Results

With the undertaking of the early processing of returned voting documents during the voting period, progress results were able to be released on election day at around 1pm. Progress results reflected about 90% of votes cast and did not include votes received at Council offices on election day morning. The release of progress results was very successful and avoided an unnecessary wait by candidates on knowing who had been provisionally elected.

The preliminary results were released on Sunday following the receipt and processing of a significant number of votes received by hand at the Council offices on election day morning. In 2016 it was estimated that 5% of all votes received were hand delivered on election day morning. In 2019 this increased to approximately 10% (more voters hand delivering their votes rather than posting them).

Both the progress and preliminary results were released to candidates and placed on Council's website.

The final results (Declaration of Results of Election – see Appendix 3) were made on Friday 18 October 2019 and appeared in the Northern Advocate on Tuesday 22 October 2019 and Northern News on Wednesday 23 October 2019.

Judicial Recount

Following the public declaration of results, an application for a judicial recount for the Te Hiku Ward vote was made to the Whangārei District Court. The declaration of results for the candidates polling third and fourth recorded a difference of 10 votes.

On consideration, the judge approved the application, and a judicial recount subsequently took place on 31 October 2019.

This process involved the capture and recount of all Te Hiku Ward votes received under the supervision of Judge Kevin Kelly. There were no candidate scrutineers appointed.

The result of the judicial recount confirmed the declared Te Hiku Ward candidates. The difference in votes between the third and fourth polling candidates however increased to 12 votes, two votes higher than the original declaration (due to interpretation of informal votes by the judge).

By order of the judge, an amended Declaration of Results was made and appeared in the Northern Advocate on Monday 4 November 2019 (see Appendix 4).

Election Cost

The 2019 estimated election cost set in June 2017 was $224,000 + GST (or for 41,350 electors, $5.42 + GST per elector), subject to actual third-party costs.

The 2019 final election cost has now been determined at $259,924 + GST (or for 43,130 electors, $6.03 + GST per elector). The cost increase is largely due to:

- a significant increase in postage costs than budgeted (+51.6%) – advised after the budget was set;
- a higher number of electors than budgeted (+4.3%);
- a higher number of candidates to 2016 (90 to 51);
- a higher number of special votes issued to 2016 (591 to 124).

Of the $259,924 + GST final cost, Council is able to recover $99,381 + GST (38.23%) from other organisations elections were conducted on behalf of. The cost share for each organization is determined by the nationally provided (SOLGM) MOU Cost Sharing Calculator.

Accordingly, this leaves a net cost to Council for their election of $160,543 + GST (61.77% of the total), or $3.72 + GST per elector.

In addition is the cost of the Te Hiku Ward Judicial Recount of $4,628.28 + GST, part of which may be recovered under the national elections insurance policy.

Upcoming Issues

Inquiry into the 2016 elections

Parliament's Justice Committee released its report 'Inquiry into the 2017 General Election and 2016 Local Elections' in December 2019.

Recommendations in the report relating to local government elections include:

- centralizing the running of local elections
- aligning DHB boundaries to TAs
- one voting method
- aligning advertising and campaigning rules with general elections
- shifting election day to avoid school holidays
- requiring candidates to provide evidence of citizenship

- requiring candidates to provide evidence of the existence of a political party/affiliation

The report can be viewed at:

https://www.parliament.nz/en/pb/sc/reports/document/SCR_93429/inquiry-into-the-2017-general-election-and-2016-local-elections

Inquiry into the 2019 elections

Parliament's Justice Committee is to undertake its normal inquiry into the conduct of the 2019 local government elections. Submissions have been called for and close on Saturday 29 February 2020. The Terms of Reference include:

- examine the law and administrative procedures for the conduct of the 2019 local elections with particular reference to:
 - low voter turnout
 - licensing trusts
 - role of council staff during election periods around decisions on information release and public statements
 - disclosure of candidate criminal convictions
 - any irregularities that may have compromised the fairness of the elections
- consult stakeholders and the wider public regarding the Justice Committee's recommendations from the 2016 local elections, particularly:
 - giving responsibility of running all aspects of local government elections to the Electoral Commission
 - encouraging or requiring the same voting system to be used in all local elections
 - foreign interference
- examine the law and administrative procedures for the conduct of energy trust elections held since 2016.

Council may wish to consider making a submission to the Committee on the above (by 29 February 2020).

Electoral System Review

Under the Local Electoral Act 2001, any local authority may resolve, before 12 September 2020, to change the electoral system used at the last election, unless a poll on the matter was held. Should Council wish to consider changing its electoral system (from first past the post to single transferable voting), it can do so by resolution no later than 12 September 2020.

However, a public notice must be given by 19 September 2020 providing the right of electors to demand a poll on the matter.

Māori Representation Review

Under the Local Electoral Act 2001, Council may at any time resolve to introduce Māori wards, unless a poll on the matter was held (the outcome of the poll binding on two triennial elections).

In October 2014, Council resolved to hold a poll on Māori wards, the outcome binding on the 2016 and 2019 triennial elections. A poll was subsequently held on 17 March 2015 with a 35.1% voter turnout. 4,309 electors voted for the introduction of Māori wards (31.5%) and 9,315 electors voted against the introduction of Māori wards (68%).

The matter of Māori wards can be considered again in 2020 (for the 2022 and 2025 triennial elections) and it can do so by resolution no later than 23 November 2020.

However, a public notice must be given by 30 November 2020 providing the right of electors to demand a poll on the matter.

Representation Arrangements Review

The Local Electoral Act 2001 requires every local authority to undertake a representation arrangements review at least once in every 6-year period.

Council last undertook a review in 2015 (for the 2016 and 2019 elections), so is required to conduct a full review in 2020/21, the outcome applicable for the 2022 triennial elections.

Summary and Conclusions

The Far North District Council's 2019 triennial elections were conducted successfully and met all legislative and practical requirements. No issues or concerns of significance arose from these elections and all tasks were completed satisfactorily and on time.

There are however several electoral issues Council may wish to consider during 2020/21:

- (i) make a submission to the Justice Committee's inquiry into the 2019 local government elections (by 29 February 2020);
- (ii) consider whether Council retains the first past the post electoral system or adopts the single transferable voting electoral system for the 2022 triennial elections – by 12 September 2020;
- (iii) consider whether Council establishes Māori wards for the 2022 triennial elections – by 23 November 2020;
- (iv) undertake a representation arrangements review in 2020/21 (including undertaking any informal public consultation).
