29.3.23	National Māori Women's Refuge- Korou Marae Hosted by Kaitaia Womens Refuge Staff The unsung heroes in our community	Whānau violence and meth addiction are major issues within our communities. The National Māori Womens Refuge Network brought tangata whenua kaimahi together to network and share some of the challenges facing them in a contemporary space. The aim was to access better training from organisations throughout Aotearoa to enable kaimahi to deal with difficult issues. ie the increase of meth use and other addictions, homelessness, hauora, loss of identity etc. and to support whanau in a mana enhancing way. “ A powerful korero from Whaia Glavish who mentioned the misery Maori suffer and the government organisations that make billions of dollars out of that. Refuges have a tangata whenua champion with Te Pukotahitanga around the roll out of Te Aorerekura. There were also opportunities for refuges to access free Family Violence training with a Te Ao Maori lens with the organisations Te Rau Ora who present wananga called Te Akina Te Ahuru Mowai as well as with Te Puna Aonui. One objective was to teach teina to acknowledge and celebrate their mana and uniqueness as wahine Maori. The inclusion of tane to the workforce to support male offenders and male tamariki is a great step forward.. “W Veza

27.3.23 Northland Forward Together Strategic Planning workshop Local Government Zone One Whangarei NRC Models of effective co governance, co management	Chris Findlayson, former Minister of Treaty Relations was involved with settlement of the historical claims of Waikato-Tainui2008 This led to the first settlement and co-governance arrangement. Treaty settlements over the following years developed different types of redress and ‘the right result was obtained in each of the settlements. Te Oneroa a Tohe Beach Board was due to historical issues that needed to be addressed- management takes time . Efforts had been made to negotiate settlement with Ngāpuhi. Pleased some hapu were close to settlement. Meng Foon Race Relations Commissioner ‘Te Tairāwhiti tangata, Te Tairāwhiti taonga, Te Tairāwhiti oranga’ ‘everything we do relates to people, the environment and well-being’. The ‘most enduring thing in our community are Māori’ given whenua Māori was set in legislation and that ‘Māori will be the influencers’. Meng Foon’s role as Race Relations Minister is based on the Bill of Human Rights and is ‘about relationships, rights and responsibilities...a responsibility to peoples’ expression’... Co-governance is ‘about organising governance to get things done’. Similarly sole traders and councils were ‘just a form of governance to get things done’. Jen Margaret Groundworks Facilitator of a professional development programme useful for councils. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Understanding Te Tiriti as a relationship of mutual benefit • Focus on the stories of Northland as the birthplace of a nation. • Councils should demonstrate leadership and a commitment to collaborate with iwi and hapu to find and share solutions. • People ‘come to the table’ with vastly different expectations, experiences and conversations. • To move forward together it was critical to recognise and respect what Tangata Whenua brought to the table and to think about the generations ahead. Mark Trudinger – Emergency Management Recovery Specialist – Post Gabrielle It was the first time all the district councils had stood up an emergency centre and Northland had a CDEM Recovery Structure <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A community consultation project was being rolled out, many locations had suffered severe trauma The feedback would be collated into a booklet .Each of the district councils had received Mayoral Relief Funds to assist communities in some recovery. •Key damage to critical infrastructure (ie two Transpower towers and one Northpower tower were located near slips) and the 111 network going down. Support for the rural sector, marae readiness and isolated communities. Paul Linton CEO, Northland Inc , 3 major shareholders : FNDC, WDC KDC with NRC the major funder. 60% of NINC’s funding came from other entities. Economic development is also about wellness, water, the environment and the people. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •NINC was involved in a range of projects and workstreams including, but not limited to, investment and infrastructure, marine sector activity, GROW Northland, the Ngawha Innovation Centre, Business Support Network, Kaupapa Māori, Destination Management Plan, Northland Events Fund, Study Northland and Regional Tourism Marketing.
